PUBLIC LIBRARY, DUNBARTON.

To the Citizens of Dunbarton:

Few people perhaps realize the importance of the public library as an educator.

Many people look upon it simply as a means whereby many leisure moments are pleasantly passed. This, however, is not the principal work of the public library to-day.

The school boy or girl is constantly being referred to such and such a book at the library to get some particular knowledge. The patronizer of the library is more or less influenced in his daily routine of work by the books he reads.

We are told that "the library custodian is the moulder of public men." His liberty and responsibility are unlimited. His duty now is not only to take care of the books, but to get the best books read.

The duty of the trustees is not only to expend the funds, but rather to purchase such books and expend them in such a way that the growing generations shall receive the greatest good.

We note the enthusiasm of our librarian for the library and its welfare in her report to the trustees, which we present with our own.

It seems but yesterday that the shelves in our library looked bare, but now they are full to overflowing. Right here the trustees would recommend that more shelf room for books be arranged.

We are glad of the fund already started for a library building. Here, too, the trustees would suggest that even a small appropriation by the town—say $25.00 or $50.00—yearly added to the building fund would, with the additions which might be received from other sources, in a few years make ample provision for the needed library building, and we would urge that this measure might in the near future be brought before the town for consideration.

We want the interest of the public, for we feel that that is the best help that our library and librarian can possibly have; for if we have the interest of the public, then the library will be used and funds will be appropriated for its advancement.

We commend our librarian for the care she has taken during the past year and the efficient manner in which she has carried out her work.

"We want citizens," says Churchill, and to patronize and aid our library is simply to aid in making citizens, which in turn will help build up our town and redound to our credit.

JOHN W. FARRAR,
JAMES E. STONE,
FREDERICK L. IRELAND,
Trustees of Dunbarton Library.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

To the Board of Trustees:

GENTLEMEN,—Another year has rolled by with but little change in the library, although it has held its own.

About one hundred and seventy-five more books were taken out this year than last, which shows that the demand for good reading is not growing less.

Thirty-one new books have been added, and the library is getting cramped for room.

We are looking forward to the time when the library can own a building of its own. Already it has a building fund of thirty dollars, deposited in the bank, which was raised at an entertainment given by friends of the library.

We know that it is a small beginning, but if every family in town who feels interested in the library would try in some way to raise as much, we would not have to wait long for a neat little building. I earnestly hope that all in town will do all they can toward one.

Fines to the amount of one dollar and ninety cents have been collected.

Respectfully submitted,

MABELLE F. KELLEY,

Librarian.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

To the Citizens of Dunbarton School Districts:

There is but little to be said as all are well in touch with our schools.

During the past year we believe the work accomplished by both teachers and pupils has been of the first order. It has been the aim of the board to make the privileges of each school equal with those of the others.

The same teachers, with one exception, have been employed throughout the financial year, and will be continued throughout the next term to the close of the school year, which has been made to conform to the state custom, which carries the year to August 1. This arrangement gives the board a far better chance to secure or retain good teachers for the spring term.

The board feel that in education the district holds a high position among her sister towns, and to maintain this position competent teachers must be employed.

Now we pay a very fair salary per week and compare well with other towns, but we are at once told by our teachers that our school year is short—only thirty weeks—eight or ten weeks shorter than in other places which pay the same salary per week, thus giving them from sixty to ninety dollars less per year than they could get elsewhere. Now, to avoid this, we must either increase our school year or salary per week, where the ability and work of a teacher demand, but we can do neither unless larger appropriations are made. These are questions for thought and discussion of the district.

By vote of the district the board were required to look up the condition of the unused schoolhouses and report at the next annual meeting.

We find the windows at the Bailey schoolhouse have either been taken away entirely or broken to pieces, the doors broken in, the out building rotted down and the house gone to decay.

The Wheeler schoolhouse was found in much the same condition. The shutters have been torn from the house and all the glass and every sash, save one, broken beyond repair. The shingles are half off and the plastering is falling. Some of the desk tops are torn off and seats torn up. The underpinning is falling out and sills rotting. The lock has been removed from the door.

Stark and No. 1 schoolhouses appear to be leaking badly, and plastering is half off. At Stark the blinds are swinging and considerable glass broken. The doors of the outhouse cannot be kept shut. In the case of Stinson schoolhouse the outhouse is nearly all rotted down. One or two blinds have been broken and glass in one window. The underpinning of the north end is gradually working in and the wall is bulging some two or three inches. The brick appear to be loosened to the height of five or six feet above underpinning.

In 1886 the five above named houses were purchased by the town at an expense of $630.12. Now, it seems to the board that the district should determine at the next meeting whether they want to retain any or all of these houses for school purposes or not, and if so appropriate money and repair the same, but if not either dispose of the same and turn the money over to the town, or turn the houses over to the town for disposition.

The board is of the opinion that the district cannot dispose of houses except to turn them over to the town when they are no longer of use to the district for school purposes.
